

Bill For Tougher Rent Control Hits Congress

Wish To Pass It Before Old Law Expires

Washington, Jan. 24.—(AP)—An administration bill calling for broader and tougher federal controls over rents for another two years was handed to Congress today, and leaders put a hurry-up tag on it.

The present law is scheduled to expire March 31, nine weeks from today.

The new bill was introduced by Senator Maybank (R-SC) and Rep. Spencer (D-Ky.), chairman of the Senate and House banking committees.

2 Year Extension
It would continue controls for 24 months, or through March 31, 1951, and would give the housing expediter—now The E. Woods—powers he does not now have.

These would include authority to reimpose rent ceilings on previously decontrolled areas, on apartment hotels, on quarters which have been covered by so-called voluntary leases, and on some quarters newly converted to housing purposes.

All controls could be relaxed before March 31, 1951, however, by a presidential proclamation or by Congress, through a resolution in which both houses agreed. Such action could be taken only if the president or Congress found the housing emergency to have ended.

Rent control is one of the subjects which congressional leaders have given top priority, because of the early expiration of the present law.

Hearings Next Week
Spence said the House committee probably will get around to hearings next week.

Senator Sparkman (D-Ala.), chairman of a Senate subcommittee on rents, said he expects to open hearings shortly.

Although President Truman in his State of the Union message called for at least a two-year extension, some Democrats have questioned whether such a long continuation is advisable.

One of them is Sparkman, who told a reporter today he still favors a 15-month extension. He said, however, that he has "an open mind" on the proposed two-year continuation if need be it is shown.

The administration bill, drawn up by Woods' office, would restore controls to these types of quarters not covered by the present act.

1. Hotel accommodations not rented for transient occupancy on Jan. 30, 1947. This affects about 500,000 hotel apartments, the administration said in a statement.

Covers Outlying Leases
2. Rental units which are now or have previously been covered by voluntary leases. The last two rent control passes by Congress permitted rent increases up to 15 percent where landlord and tenant agreed to a long-term lease. The right to sign such leases would not be renewed.

3. Quarters which were not rented for 24 months during the period from Feb. 1, 1945 to March 30, 1948. Such units, now exempt would be brought back under controls.

4. Converted housing accommodations, now automatically decontrolled, would be restored to controls until the housing expediter finds that the conversion provides additional family living units.

The expediter would also be given authority to control or decontrol whole rental areas.

These powers, which he had in some form under wartime laws and which Congress later took away, would also be restored:

1. The right to sue for triple damages for rental overcharges. The existing law gives only the tenant the right to seek triple damages.

Would Control Evictions
2. The right to control evictions, now governed by state laws.

3. The right to take criminal action against what Spence called "repeated and willful violators who apparently have little respect for civil penalties."

The bill would continue the local advisory boards, appointed by the expediter from a list of representative citizens submitted by governors of the states.

These boards are authorized to make recommendations for general increases of ceilings or their complete lifting. The new bill would permit these boards to appeal to the emergency court of appeals if the housing expediter rejects their recommendations. Such appeals are now automatic.

The bill would also continue throughout the life of the act the preference given veterans to rent or buy new living quarters not built for owner occupancy.

DROWNING VICTIM'S BODY RECOVERED

Beardstown, Ill., Jan. 24.—(AP)—Rivermen today recovered from the Illinois river the body of Robert A. Ten, 20, of Browning.

Aten and Guy Robertson, also of Browning, were working on a dredge from a boat last Monday when the craft capsized. Robertson, who also was thrown into the water, was rescued by another dredge worker, Dale Sherrill of Browning.

Battle Of Filibuster Opens On Capitol Hill

Washington, Jan. 24.—(AP)—The battle of the filibuster opened with heavy verbal cannonading on Capitol Hill today.

Marking the Truman administration's first move to ram a civil rights program through the new 81st Congress, the Senate rules committee began hearings on anti-filibuster legislation designed to limit debate.

Chairman Hayden (D-Ariz.) predicted the committee will recommend a rule permitting curbs on any Senate debate, thus eliminating a favorite weapon exploited down the years to talk bills to death.

Republicans have joined a coalition with Democratic "regulars" to back such a change. But a bloc of 17 southern senators is pledged to fight to preserve the filibuster, which they have used to block anti-poll tax, anti-lynch and anti-discrimination legislation.

Senator Long (D-La.), son of the late Huey Long whose filibustering became legendary, joined the attack which may develop into a pro-filibuster when it reaches the Senate floor.

Long declared that the minority has a right to "fight it out to the limit of its endurance" in explaining issues to the public.

But Senator Morse (R-Ore.) disagreed. The westerner said the filibuster is a method to "settle controversies" by physical endurance. "A majority of the people, he said, want it stopped."

Morse said that even if filibuster tactics eventually collapse, the long-winded exponents sometimes force compromises, and he declared: "I object to a compromise being forced down my throat by a filibuster gun."

Morse urged the committee to accept his resignation, which would permit the Senate to shut off all debate by a simple majority vote.

Under present rules, the Senate can limit debate on a bill by a two-thirds vote of its members. But traditionally this rule does not apply to debate on motions and other business, and thus senators may talk almost endlessly.

Chairman Hayden favors shutting off any debate by a two-thirds Senate vote. It is likely that his resolution will be approved by the committee.

May, Garsson Lose Appellate Fight In Bribery Charge

Washington, Jan. 24.—(AP)—The government's long fight to imprison former Rep. Andrew J. May of Kentucky and the munitions-making Garsson brothers for wartime bribery advanced another step today.

The U. S. Court of Appeals in a 2-1 ruling upheld the July 1947 convictions of the three men. Their attorneys immediately planned an appeal to the supreme court. Meanwhile, the three will continue free on bond, each under sentence of eight months to two years.

May, now 73, was House military committee chairman during the second world war and a leading figure in Congress. The Garsson brothers, Henry and Murray, built up a $70,000,000 munitions combine. Disclosure of their money payments to May was a postwar sensation.

A trial jury found May guilty of taking $53,634 in bribes from the brothers for his help in seeking wartime favors from the War Department for the Garsson projects.

Six Railroads Oppose Building New Illini Canal

Washington, Jan. 24.—(AP)—An army engineer board today heard sharply divided opinion about spending $99,759,000 to reconstruct the Illinois-Mississippi canal.

The board, headed by Maj. Gen. R. C. Crawford, deputy chief of engineers, completed its hearing but its conclusions may not be known for several weeks.

Rep. Vursell (R-Ill.) lined up with six mid-western railroads and the railroad brotherhoods in opposing a plan to abandon the Heppiepin canal and build a wider, deeper waterway from the Illinois river near Bureau to the Mississippi at Hampton, Ill.

Civic groups, shippers and barge operators from Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota joined with Rep. Allen (R-Ill.) in support of the project. An army division engineer has approved the plan for a new canal, 64 miles long, 200 feet wide and 15 feet deep.

Date Of Cook Co. Fair Announced

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 24.—(AP)—The Cook county fair will be held Aug. 31 through Sept. 5, Director Orville F. Cullerton announced today.

Cullerton, here for the annual meeting of the Illinois fair officials, said tentative plans call for staging the event at Maywood park if the site can be leased.

Gieseking, Nazi Pianist, Agrees To Leave U. S.

Washington, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Walter Gieseking, German pianist who played in Germany throughout the Nazi regime, was taken into custody a few hours before a New York concert scheduled for tonight, and quickly agreed to leave the country.

The justice department announced that Gieseking, who arrived in this country Saturday, agreed to leave after it called a hearing to determine whether he should be excluded from the U. S. The hearing was called off, as was the concert.

Department officials declined to discuss the nature of the evidence they have against Gieseking.

The pianist, who played before Adolf Hitler, has denied that he was ever a Nazi.

The justice department said immigration officials "detained" Gieseking a few hours before he was to have made his post-war American debut at Carnegie Hall in New York tonight.

Tickets for the recital had been sold out for over a month. Jewish war veterans and others had been reported planning to picket the hall if Gieseking appeared.

The pianist's manager, Charles L. Wagner, and his associate manager, Edward W. Snowden, previously told newsmen in New York that Gieseking had been "cleared of suspicion" of having given Nazi-sponsored concerts.

They said, too, that the local de-nazification board in Gieseking's home town of Wiesbaden, Germany, had refused to try him "because it was widely known that he was not a Nazi and that he studiously avoided all contacts with Nazis."

But the justice department said evidence had been uncovered indicating that his presence in this country might not be resirable.

Besides his Carnegie Hall recital, Gieseking had planned a concert tour of the United States.

Chiang's Own Troops Head South; Reds Near Nanking

Shanghai, Jan. 24.—(AP)—"Personal troops" of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek streamed south out of the Shanghai-Nanking defenses today, vastly complicating government efforts to beg acceptable surrender terms from the Chinese communists.

Reliable sources in Nanking reported a short time later that acting President Li Tsung-Jen had ordered 50,000 troops personally loyal to him to hasten to Nanking from the Hankow area 300 miles to the west.

These significant troop movements came as the triumphant Reds marched almost within artillery range of Nanking. They were less than 30 miles away Sunday, and were still meeting no opposition.

Adding to the Chinese puzzle, highest sources disagreed anew on whether Chiang Kai-shek actually did out the government when he flew away Friday to his ancestral village of Chikow, 210 miles south-east of Nanking.

Shen Chang-huan, information minister who used to be Chiang's private secretary, asserted at a Nanking tea party that Chiang had not resigned and was still president of China. He insisted Li Tsung-Jen was merely acting president because Chiang was absent from the capital.

However, Li's personal representative in Shanghai, Kan Chieh-hou, held a press conference Monday night in which he repeatedly spoke of the "resignation" of Chiang.

"All this could be typically Chinese quibbling, but when coupled with the peculiar troop movements it could signify a possible fatal disagreement inside the remaining government structure."

Resolve To Repeal Labor Law Passed By Senate Group

Washington, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Democratic rammers through the Senate labor committee, 8 to 5, today a resolution calling for repeal of the Taft-Hartley act—and opening the way for a revamping of the old Wagner Act at the same time.

The committee decided to open hearings Friday on the Wagner Act changes. The testimony is to end by Feb. 10 and then the Senate will be asked to act on the repealer and the Wagner Act amendments.

While labor unions thus made some progress in their demands for speedy repeal, they apparently suffered a setback in their drive for "two-package" labor legislation.

They wanted (1) repeal of the Taft-Hartley law, which would restore the old Wagner Act, which they consider their "Magna Charta" (2) later consideration of "improving" amendments to the Wagner Act along the lines urged by President Truman. He asked, among other things, for amendments equipping the government to deal with national emergency strikes and banning jurisdictional strikes, which arise from quarrels between unions as to which shall do a job.

U. Of I. President Says Peace Must Begin In The Mind

Chicago, Jan. 24.—(AP)—President George D. Stoddard of the University of Illinois said today educators look to the humanities, to social structures and to religion to map out a new kind of peace in the minds of men.

Stoddard is a member of the United States commission on the United Nations educational, scientific and cultural organization (UNESCO). He spoke at a discussion series sponsored by the University of Chicago and the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations.

"Teachers and educators x x x hope to combine the practical and the theoretical in what may become an all-out drive to discover the basic causes of war," Stoddard said.

"UNESCO workers, especially in education, are gambling on the time element. To be strong in principle and practice, to give power to good ideas and programs, UNESCO must have time to grow."

Stoddard said UNESCO's work is "consistent with the educators' desire for a peaceful world."

Arvey Denies He Is Backing Louis Fight In Chicago

Chicago, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Chairman Jack Arvey of the Cook County Central Democratic committee today denied that his group was seeking sponsorship of a title defense by heavyweight champion Joe Louis here next June.

Earlier, Joseph T. Plunkett, special services chairman of the committee, had reported that Louis had offered to fight at Soldier Field for a minimum purse of $400,000, 50 percent of movie and radio rights and an exclusive on television rights.

Plunkett said that the committee had rejected the champion's offer, which was prohibitive and would make a counter proposal.

Believe Airlift Plane With 25 Aboard Crashed

Berlin, Tuesday, Jan. 25.—(AP)—British air officials said today they believed a British airlift plane with 25 persons aboard, including 17 children evacuated from western Berlin, crashed last night into Soviet occupation zone.

The plane, an RAF Dakota, is believed to have crashed near Schoenwalde not far from Luebeck, where bad weather has been reported, the officials said.

Soviet authorities are searching the area.

The plane left Gatow Field here at 5:05 p.m., yesterday carrying the 17 children, five German adults and a crew of three. There was no word from the missing craft.

The children were being evacuated from Soviet-blockaded western Berlin. Luebeck is about 140 miles northwest of Berlin.

Margaret Truman Gets Many Offers To Sing Recitals

New York, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Requests are pouring in from concert managers all over the country seeking Margaret Truman's appearance at recitals in their cities, her manager said today.

However, it will be "a matter of a month or so" before the president's daughter is booked for a recital, James A. Davidson told newsmen.

So far, Davidson said, requests for her to appear as soloist with a symphony orchestra or in recital have come from concert managers in Washington, D. C., San Antonio and El Paso, Tex., Louisville, Toledo, Omaha, New Haven, and Springfield, Mass.

The White House said yesterday Miss Truman would come to New York early next month to start voice coaching for a concert tour next October under Davidson's management.

Davidson said she might sing several engagements during the summer with a regular tour to follow for the 1949-50 season starting in October.

NLRB Files Suit Against Phone Co.

Chicago, Jan. 24.—(AP)—The National Labor Relations Board 13th Region issued a complaint today against the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. alleging it suspended and demoted employees in April, 1947 because they refused to cross a picket line.

The complaint said the eight refused to cross a picket line set up by the Illinois Telephone Traffic Union during a strike in April, 1947.

An NLRB trial examiner will hear the case on May 14, 1949.

Telephone company officials were not available for comment.

Battle Snow To Save 2 Million Livestock

U. S. Plans To Limit Cotton, Wheat Crops

Washington, Jan. 24.—(AP)—An administration plan to hold down this year's wheat and cotton crops was disclosed today by Chairman Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.) of the Senate agriculture committee.

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan outlined it to the committee at a closed session, and Thomas told reporters afterward that he would introduce legislation to back it up.

As announced by Thomas, Brannan's plan calls for serving notice on wheat and cotton farmers that the 1949 crops they plant will not be considered part of their average production in figuring any future acreage allotments.

Thomas said the purpose is to "discourage large plantings of wheat and cotton." He added that Brannan expressed fear that there may be rather large surpluses of both of these crops this year, and of corn also.

Under present law, if acreage controls are renewed, the average acreage planted by a farmer in the five previous years is the amount he is entitled to plant.

This, officials feel, may induce many farmers to plant as much as they can in order to have the maximum possible acreage when and if controls are clamped on. The plan announced today is designed to remove this incentive and thus to curb surpluses.

About as large a winter wheat crop as possible already has been planted, Thomas said. Cotton farmers, he said, are preparing to plant "an extra large crop" to get the benefit of present high support prices.

Thomas said Brannan intended to make his announcement about this year's wheat and cotton crops in a few days. The senator said he felt that "a simple announcement" wouldn't suffice, that it should be written into law.

The committee failed to get from Brannan a statement on the administration's long range farm policy, but Thomas said Brannan did say that the agriculture department is "considering remodeling the parity formula."

Stevenson Says Demos Will Back Fair Employment

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 24.—(AP)—Legislation on fair employment practices will be sponsored and supported by the Democratic state administration, Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson said today.

Stevenson told a news conference he believes Illinois should have such an act and that a bill proposing it will be submitted later to the general assembly.

Representatives of some religious, racial and labor groups have been trying since 1943 to get a law designed to prohibit discrimination in employment because of race, religion or color.

Their efforts have failed, largely because of strong opposition from manufacturing and business spokesmen.

Although Stevenson's support improves enactment prospects, this time, the legislation probably will face its toughest hurdle in the Republican controlled senate.

Execution Of Man On Murder Count Stayed By Court

Indianapolis, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Thomas Kallis, 57-year-old East Chicago man under sentence to die in the State prison electric chair Feb. 8, today received a stay of execution from the Indiana Supreme court.

The court postponed the execution until March 29 so that it might have time to consider Kallis' petition for a rehearing of his case.

Kallis was convicted at Crown Point last year for the murder of George Stocks, 23, of Johnson City, Ill.

Stocks, a World War II veteran and holder of the bronze medal after serving on 13 missions over Germany, was stabbed fatally in an East Chicago hotel.

Evidence was given at the trial that Kallis met Stocks in a tavern, invited Stocks to his hotel room and stabbed him when he resisted Kallis' improper proposals.

Kallis has had two previous stays of execution.

Britain Seeking To Buy Secondhand B-29's From U. S.

London, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Britain is negotiating with the United States for the purchase of 150 to 180 second-hand B-29 superfortress bombers, responsible British and American informants said today.

Britain is said to be negotiating purchase of the aircraft to increase the strength of the RAF's bomber command.

This country's lagging program of bomber output was given by informants as a main reason for talks said to be taking place between American and British air force leaders to clinch the B-29 deal.

Production cost of a B-29, best known U. S. bomber, ranges from $900,000 to $1,000,000.

There are 30 aircraft in an American bomber group. The 150 or 180 B-29s the British are reported seeking would make up five or six groups.

Outcome of the talks, according to the informants, is still unsettled. So, too, is the question of how dollar-short Britain would finance the project.

New State Of Israel Recognized By France

London, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Israel tonight won a major victory in her battle for world recognition as a new nation.

The League of diplomatic opposition began to crumble when France recognized the young Jewish State and the British cabinet decided to take similar action within the next few days. Australia and New Zealand are expected to go along with Britain.

There were indications in Rome that Italian recognition also was under discussion.

Predictions were made that Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg soon would get on the bandwagon. Those three nations coordinated their foreign policies with Britain and France.

Soon the Arab nations may find themselves alone in their opposition to Israel, it was said.

The sudden flood of expected recognitions would remove most obstacles from Israel's application for membership in the United Nations. Britain heretofore has advocated delay in admitting the Jewish State.

French recognition was granted on the eve of Israel's first election. It also came at a time when Israeli-Egyptian armistice negotiations on Rhodes appeared to be tottering on a

Hay Airlift To Aid Relief In Rangelands

By The Associated Press
A new airlift and $100,000 in emergency funds were thrown Monday into the battle for relief of snowbound humans and cattle in the nation's hard-hit rangelands.

President Truman made immediately available $100,000 in emergency funds even as 17 air force C-83 Flying Boxcars began "operation haylift" to feed more than 2,000,000 snow-bound sheep and cattle.

Fifty thousand dollars was allocated to the Bureau of Indian Affairs for use in relieving the hardship of thousands of Indians on western reservations. The other management bureau of the interior $50,000 was turned over to the land department to help supply feed for the livestock.

Tons of hay for starving livestock were brought into Elko, Nev., by "flying boxcars" of the Air Force. Most roads out of the snowbound area were still buried under snow and all available equipment and manpower was thrown into the battle to get fodder to the livestock.

The first consignment to reach Elko was seven "flying boxcars" each carrying nearly five tons of hay from around Fallon, Nev. Other emergency flights were to bring additional tons Monday night.

The Air Force has resumed a similar air lift started in the Nebraska-South Dakota region after the January 2 blizzard.

Temperatures in Montana, Wyoming, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Nebraska plummeted Monday. The cold wave from Canada brought 40 below zero to Bozeman, Mont., and Casper, Wyo., Scottsbluff, Neb., and 40 below; Rapid City, S.D., -19, and many other points between five and 10 degrees below zero.

No Relief Till Tuesday
No relief was forecast until Tuesday.

High winds whipped up snow into ground blizzards in southwestern Wyoming. Some rail and air traffic in Wyoming and Colorado was temporarily delayed, but service reinstated later.

In the frigid plains area, flight were limited by adverse weather. The army employed a dozen "weather" trucks equipped with cameras capable of plowing their way through deep snow—in the Wyoming, South Dakota-Nebraska area for use in livestock feed distribution and also re-establishment of communication with isolated communities.

Among places snow-locked and in need of food and fuel fifth army headquarters listed O'Neill, Neb., and Philip and Martin, S.D.

Several other communities remained cut off by snow in the northern Plains and Rockies where sub-zero air hung over accumulated drifts. But progress was made by army, state, highway, National Guard and volunteer crews fighting to open blocked roads to stock camps and snow-locked communities.

Light snow fell again on the northern plains and Rockies where sub-zero air hung over accumulated drifts. But progress was made by army, state, highway, National Guard and volunteer crews fighting to open blocked roads to stock camps and snow-locked communities.

Ice Hits Kansas
Heavy rain which froze into two-inch sheaths on communication wires caused lines to snap, cutting phone contact with 15 northwestern Kansas communities. Kansas and Missouri roads were glazed.

In some areas of the middle Mississippi and Ohio Valleys, streams rose swiftly and some went out of their banks. The lower Ohio river reaches reached near flood stages, but forecasters said there was no immediate threat. Several points reported rainfall of two inches or so.

Heavy rains spread from Texas to the Atlantic coast. Parts of Missouri and Kansas were ice-laden in the winter's third severe freeze in that area. And southern California still failed to get back its usual balmy winter weather.

The cold spreading into the midwest was brought five below to Goodland, Kans., and zero mercury levels were predicted by Tuesday morning as far east as southeastern Wisconsin and as far south as northern Arkansas.

SENTENCE MAN WHO STOLE HEARING AID

Philadelphia, Jan. 24.—(AP)—A two-and-a-half to five-year prison sentence was meted out today to a man who admitted he stole another man's hearing aid.

William C. Squire, 36, told Judge James C. Crumlish he took the instrument to give to his mother as a Christmas present for his stepfather.

THE 'MIDDLE CLASS' IS DEFINED, AT LEAST IN FINANCIAL BRACKETS

Since Nov. 2 quite a lot of people have said that they voted for Mr. Truman because they knew just where he stood on every issue. The President's forthrightness didn't end with his victory, either. For now he has told the people where he stands on the subject of the middle class.

We're obliged for the information, because it has always been hard to recognize the dividing lines in our classless society. We've heard a lot about the common man from Henry Wallace. But just who is he? How many of him are there? Where do they live and work? How much money do they make? We've never found out.

We've had the same difficulty with the same questions about the middle class. This term, unlike the term common man, is not largely one man's property. What it means depends on who uses it.

We've heard about "the great middle class" when the speaker obviously meant that it was the slightly conservative back bone of the nation and of the private enterprise system. We've heard others use the term when they were clearly thinking of the middle class as a mass of statistical anonymity.

Mr. Truman hasn't answered all the questions about this segment of our society. But at least he has put it in its economic place. For where would the middle class belong except in the middle income tax bracket? Thanks to the President, we now know that the middle bracket includes those who make from $6000 to $25,000 or $30,000 a year.

We would have guessed that the middle class income began at a slightly lower figure. But that is because we are still inclined to think in terms of the not-too-distant past when $6,000 was quite a respectable annual income. In those days, you had quite a bit of that six thousand left even after the butcher, the grocer and the Collector of Internal Revenue had got through with you. Why, you could even buy a pretty good house for $6000.

But now we know better. We also know, however incredible it may seem, that in this happy income bracket there is still some skimmable cream which the tax man will go to work on, if Mr. Truman has his way.

Since we know this much, we may assume that below the $6000 figure lies Henry Wallace's realm of the common man. Perhaps the $5900-a-year man can lay claim to membership in the petite bourgeoisie, but the rest seem definitely proletarian.

Whether the heights above $25,000 or $30,000 are occupied chiefly by "gluttons of special privilege" is another matter. At least they seem to be down to financial skim milk, for the proposed tax boost passes them by. And the President declined to second the suggestion, once made by Mr. Roosevelt, that all net incomes be limited to $25,000 a year.

Mr. Truman almost had to pass that one, if only out of gratitude. For on the same day that he was putting the right class in the right bracket, the Senate was voting him a $75,000-a-year raise—with two-thirds of it tax exempt!

Cars Collide At Intersection; One Driver Injured

Paul Wake of New Berlin route 1 was able to leave Our Saviour's hospital Sunday afternoon after overnight treatment for injuries he sustained in an automobile collision at Morton avenue and South East street.

Wake was the only one of several persons riding in two cars which collided at the intersection shortly before midnight Saturday, who needed hospital attention. He was taken there in Cooney's ambulance and attended by Dr. E. C. Bone. The New Berlin man suffered cuts on his head and right leg. X-ray examination Sunday revealed that no bones were broken.

Wake was driving south in a 1940 Buick convertible. The other car involved in the collision was a 1942 Chevrolet driven by Van Dean Simms, 228 West Beecher avenue, which was traveling west on Morton avenue.

Simms was accompanied by Jack Peak, 815 South Diamond street; Howard Gutekunst, 114 West Greenwood avenue, and Charles Huffman, 1611 South East street.

Both damaged cars were taken to the Lukeman Motor Company garage.

Chief Frank Kiloran and Capt. Ike Flynn of the police department went to the scene of the wreck.

Couple United In Carrollton Church Ceremony Sunday

Carrollton—The wedding of Miss Martha Simonds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Simonds, and Ralph Shafer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Shafer, took place Sunday, Jan. 23 at 2:30 p.m. in the local Methodist church. The single ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Marshall D. Uim.

Preceding the ceremony Richard Tendick of the faculty of the Carrollton High school sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly," accompanied at the organ by Miss Pauline Schroeder. The young couple said their vows before an altar banked with baskets of gladioli and fernery.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose for her wedding a grey crepe dressmaker suit with which she wore pink accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations and she carried a white prayer book. The maid of honor, Miss Janet Simonds, sister of the bride, wore a steel length dress of fuchsia and her corsage was of white carnations.

The groomsmen was Lynn Cox of Hillview. The ushers were Richard Simonds of Wood River, brother of the bride. Joyce Shafer of Carrollton, brother of the groom and Ross Cox of Hillview.

Following the ceremony a reception for the members of the wedding party, the family and friends of the couple was held in the church dining room after which Mr. and Mrs. Shafer left for Hillview where they are making their home on a farm.

Mrs. Shafer is a graduate of the local high school class of 1947 and for a year before her graduation and since that time she was employed as office secretary in the high school.

Shafer attended school in White Hall and served three years with the United States Army during World War two, being stationed for a time in the Aleutians and Alaska.

Conduct Services For Mrs. B. F. Ford

Carrollton—Funeral services for Mrs. B. F. Ford were held Friday at 1:30 p.m. in the Baptist church. The services were conducted by Mrs. Ford's grandson, the Rev. Morris Ford of Long View, Texas, assisted by Dr. John W. Crouch of the local church.

The flowers were cared for by Mrs. Louis Bishop and Mrs. George Armstrong of this city. Mrs. Effie Madison of Springfield and Miss Lora Hahn of Patterson. The pall bearers were Louis Bishop of this city, John Walls, Bert Walls, Ed Walls, Harry Walls and Lloyd Walls all of Patterson.

Interment was in the Pine Tree cemetery at Patterson. A short service was also held in the Patterson church.

XXXXIII
It was a day of hard work, sweetened by laughter and happiness. Late in the afternoon, when the house was already beginning to regain its former gracious charm, there was a ring at the front-door bell, and a voice called, "Hi—what's going on around here?"

Merry, in a gingham house-frock and a checked apron, a scarf twisted gypsy-wise about her hair, a smudge on one cheek and her hands frankly grimy, gasped and cried, "It's Tip!"

She raced down the stairs, brandishing a dustcloth, and hurled herself upon him, crying joyously, "Oh, Tip, isn't it wonderful? I'm home!"

Tip stared at her, held her a little away from him and said sternly, "Hi, this is a clean shirt and I just had my pants pressed! Home, Merry? For good?"

"Of course, Tip—and who cares about your old clean shirt? Only I guess I am a bit smudgy."

Tip laughed and bent his head and kissed her firmly.

"You are, and that's a fact. But you're still the prettiest girl I know, even with a smudge on your cheek and your paws grimy," he told her, and turned to greet Aunt Jane. "Look, what's all this about? All of a sudden smoke was coming out of the chimneys and people were working out on the lawn trimming shabby and such. Everybody thought the place had been sold."

"Never, Tip! It's my home. And the millionaire hasn't yet been born who could scrape up enough money to buy it from me!" Merry told him radiantly.

Aunt Jane looked at his bewildered face and said briskly, "It's rather a long story, Tip. Merry, march yourself right upstairs and into the tub and a clean dress. Tip, make yourself at home, and stay for dinner. It'll be pot-luck, but Lizzie's supervising the pot, which is proof enough that it'll be worth eating. Scram, Merry!"

"See what I've let myself in for?" she appealed gaily to Tip, as she turned to go upstairs. "I'm going to be bossed to death."

AUNT JANE studied the boy as he watched Merry out of sight, and when Merry's door had closed behind her, she led the way into the living room. Then she said quietly, "You think a lot of her, don't you, Tip?"

Tip looked at her in frowning surprise.

"That's a fool question, Aunt Jane," he said brusquely. "I love her with all my heart. I think I always have. She's been in my heart since she was in fourth grade in grammar school."

Aunt Jane said quietly, "I'm glad, Tip. She needs love, security, a place of her own. Merry wasn't meant to drift. She's loyal, faithful, steadfast. A broken marriage would finish her."

Tip said quietly, "You've got her wrong, Aunt Jane. She's young but she's tough. She'd make the best of it, if it had to happen. But let's pray that it won't ever happen to her. She's so deserving of the best."

When Merry came down a little later, crisp and fresh and lovely in a striped chambray frock, her hair shining from brushing, her face shining with happiness, Aunt Jane stood up, looked once at Tip's enchanted face and then, at Merry's murmured something about getting cleaned up for supper. And she knew that neither of them heard her when she left the room.

Tip said huskily, "I don't seem to have any words to tell you what it means to me to have you back home again."

Merry laughed shakily and said impulsively, "What puzzles me is why I didn't think of it before!" They sat for a little in a lovely, companionable silence, eyes on the huge log-fire that leaped in the big fireplace, adding its note of cheer and comfort to the pleasant scene. And when Aunt Jane came back, they smiled warmly at each other and Merry felt as though the long year that had known so much of heartbreak and bewilderment and loneliness had been merely a bad dream...

WITHIN a week or two she had picked up the scattered threads of the old life and it was almost as though she had never gone away at all. Except that the year of being away had made all the old familiar scenes even more dear, and the old friends more precious. She even found herself loving Penny Staples, who had graduated from high school and had a job in the bank. Some of the other girls had gone off to college, and came home at Easter chattering like bright-winged birds about things that sounded fascinating and strange to the stay-at-homes. One or two of the girls were married and being almost unbearably smug about it. Others were engaged. And the boys, too, had scattered. In the year of her absence, it seemed to Merry that they had stopped being boys and had grown into young men. Some like the girls, had gone to college. The two had joined the Navy, and others were working in Marshallville. A few, restless and seeking newer and larger opportunities, had gone away to Atlanta or to Jacksonville, and the Chamber of Commerce worried about this and discussed it at length at their weekly meetings and sought ways and means of attracting new business to Marshallville, that their young people might find there the larger opportunities they sought. But since Marshallville was rather isolated so far as transportation was concerned, nothing much was done about it.

In short, life for Merry resumed at a placid, even tempo and she drifted happily with it, busy and contented with her daily round of unimportant activities, watched over by Aunt Jane and by Lizzie and Andrew.

Prominent Greene County Physician Has 80th Birthday

White Hall—Dr. William H. Garrison, prominent physician, church worker and civic leader of White Hall, observed his 80th birthday Sunday, Jan. 23. Plans to leave during the week for a visit with his son, Dr. George Garrison in Oklahoma City, were canceled because of weather conditions, but he will make the trip as soon as possible.

Dr. Garrison was graduated as a pharmacist in 1891 and for several years he and his brother, H. Daily Garrison, operated a drug store in Pearl. In 1897 he was graduated from medical school in St. Louis and for 21 years practiced in Pearl, also serving as local surgeon for the Alton railroad.

In contrast with modern modes of travel Dr. Garrison recalls using a rowboat during the summer and ice skates during the winter to visit patients who lived in boats along the river. While calling on railroad employees, it was often necessary for him to use a handcar, furnishing his own power.

Since 1920 Dr. Garrison has practiced in White Hall, still maintaining daily office hours, and making house calls. Despite ice and snow he visited patients in Hillview and Barrow the last week.

On March 15, 1947, he was presented a certificate of membership in the State Medical society's 50 year club and also was awarded a gold pin. He served 20 years as secretary of the Greene County Medical society and is a former president and vice president of the society.

Active in lodge and church work Dr. Garrison is a 50 year member of the local Masonic chapter and is head elder of the First Christian church. For many years he has been teacher of the men's class.

On Oct. 1, 1893, he married Laura L. French who died Jan. 29, 1929. Their five living children are Harold, of Greenfield; Dr. George Garrison, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; W. H. Garrison, East Grand Rapids, Michigan; Mrs. K. R. Ricks, East Alton, and Mrs. Frank M. Scholfield, Woodstown, New Jersey.

DR. MARSTON LEAVES FOR WASHINGTON MONDAY

Dr. Frank Marston, minister of Grace Methodist church, left Monday for Washington, to attend a special seminar on "A Divided World." During his absence from the city, Dr. Sidney A. Guthrie, district supt., will be in charge of the pastoral activities of the church.

Asbury W. S. C. S. Names Committee To Pick Officers

A nominating committee was named by the Asbury W. S. C. S. at its meeting held with Mrs. E. R. Hembrough and Ruth and Elizabeth Hembrough. The committee is comprised of Mrs. Frankie Hembrough, Mr. Dimmett Trotter and Mrs. Everett Reynolds.

A potluck dinner was served, with Mrs. Harold Hembrough as assistant hostess. The meeting followed, with the president, Mrs. Lawrence Hembrough in charge.

"New Year's Resolutions" was the topic for roll call. Devotions were led by Mrs. Frankie Hembrough. During the business session, a contribution was devoted for the March of Dimes and Mrs. John Cully was named chairman of the supper which the club will serve for the Woodson Men's club on Feb. 17.

A book review of "The Open Gate" was presented by Mrs. Lawrence Hembrough. Mrs. Cully read an article entitled "Window Gardens for the Farm Home."

Mrs. Frank Crawley had charge of the social period. Contests were enjoyed, with prizes being won by Mrs. Paul Barrows and Mrs. Arvel Becker.

Rev. Wm. Landis Expires In Florida

Carrollton—Mrs. Lena Lugg has received word of the death of her uncle, the Rev. William Landis, 81, at his home in Jacksonville, Fla. Funeral services were held in Jacksonville, Fla., Saturday.

Rev. Landis was a former Greene County resident, having made his home for a number of years on a farm east of Carrollton. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Landis and was the youngest of a family of nine. Before going to Florida to make his home he had several pastorate in Methodist churches in Illinois and on his visits here he occupied the pulpit in the Methodist church.

Photos Of Brazil To Go On Exhibit Here Thursday

Brazil Builds, an exhibition of photographs from the Museum of Modern Art in New York, showing the architectural achievements of Brazil, will open at the David Strawn Art Home at 8 o'clock on Thursday evening, January 27, under the joint sponsorship of the Art Association of Jacksonville and the Jacksonville branch of the American Association of University Women.

Mrs. Joseph C. Cleland of the Art Department of Mac Murray College will conduct an informal instruction period, pointing out the significance characteristics of Brazil's modern architectural accomplishments, probably the greatest in the world.

The exhibition is the result of a trip which representatives of the Museum of Modern Art and the American Institute of Architects made in 1942, partly as an effort to support our government's good-neighbor policy and partly to demonstrate for North Americans the tremendous architectural achievements of Brazil, the greatest of which is the control of heat and glare on glass surfaces by means of external blinds, a project which has not been attempted in North America.

Brazil Builds has been exceptionally popular in cities on the eastern coast of the United States which settled by the Portuguese, since Brazil was originally a Portuguese colony settled in 1503. Because of the number of Portuguese who settled in and around Jacksonville during the last century, national officers of the AAUW will watch with interest its reception by Jacksonville citizens; since the success of such an exhibition is judged by the number of people who visit it, Jacksonville might well be the scene of its most successful mid-western showing.

There is no charge for admission. Hours are from 3-5 and 7-9, except on Sundays when there are no evening hours.

Mrs. F. J. Ferry, Arts chairman of the AAUW and Miss Anna Dewey Doan, Exhibitions chairman of the Art Association have as their assistants Miss Edna Osborne and Mrs. J. C. Cleland in charge of hanging the exhibition and Mrs. John Hackett, in charge of hostesses. Mrs. John Agger is president of the local branch of the American Association of University Women and Miss Mildred Brown is president of the Art Association.

last longer

Damage from rust, rot and neglect during winter is often more costly than the wear and tear of actual use. Here are some tips that cut down repair bills.

1. If possible, house idle machinery in a good shed.
2. Clean out all dirt and trash.
3. Tighten loose bolts, check for cracked or broken parts.
4. Apply rust preventive to unpainted surfaces.
5. Remove belts and canvas—store in a dry place away from rats, mice and birds.
6. Order repair parts now and make repairs this winter.

Dr. W. S. Dysinger Writes Article For Magazine

An article by Dr. Wendell S. Dysinger, dean of MacMurray College and director of personnel, appeared in the Jan. 13 issue of the Christian Advocate and bears the title "Education Is Not Anonymous in the Christian College."

The 21-page article carries three illustrations, one of a MacMurray professor and students. A picture of Dr. Dysinger also appears in the contents page with a list of his other offices: member of the board of directors of the Illinois Guidance and Personnel association and national vice-president of the Council of Guidance and Personnel associations.

The subject of the article is the college personnel office and its task. "To render systematic aid in the solution of the persistent problems of college youth," the author submits that "the great opportunity for service to students through personnel work is not on the large campus. Numbers are simply too great for a program that requires much time for the individual. . . . The student is a name on a card file; classes are so large that they need the loud speaker; education has become anonymous. Even students who must be dismissed for academic failure cannot be interviewed personally. Many sincere men on these campuses feel keenly the impersonal nature of education . . . but the tragedies are inevitable."

"It is on the small campus that the best work can be done. And this suggests the great opportunity of the Christian college today. Interest in the individual student is the tradition. The modern personnel program offers new methods through which old goals can be approached."

Penalties For Parking Violations Discussed; To Revise Amendment

The degree of severity that should be applied to violators of the parking meter ordinance occupied considerable attention of the city council last night.

Should frequent offenders be permitted to avoid prosecution each time by dropping a nickel in the meter at the police station? Should the penalty be raised to a quarter, 75 cents, or should all offenders be assessed $1?

Should the whole business of revision of the ordinance be dropped, and all violators be sent to police court?

There were a few of the questions raised by councilmen as they prepared to give a second reading to an amendment which would set up penalties of from 25 cents to $1 in cases which are not prosecuted.

After a half hour of argument, and conference the council got together on a course which is expected to clarify the situation. The city attorney was instructed in a motion to rewrite an amendment and submit it at the next meeting.

To Write Sliding Scale
A sliding scale of penalties, 5 cents for first offense, 25 cents for the second and $1 for the third, and a trip to the police magistrate's court for subsequent offenses in any one calendar month, will be written into the amendment by Attorney W. L. Pay for consideration next week.

Alderman Kelly of the ordinance committee expressed a desire for some changes in the amendment as it was first written, stating that a number of persons have said they believe 25 cents is too much for first offenders.

"What is the matter with ordinance as it stands now?" Alderman Costello wanted to know. He said the law sets up $1 penalty to avoid prosecution for parking infractions, and that it would prove mighty effective if enforced.

"Severe Penalties" Opposed
Mayor Hoagland explained that the parking meter at the police station was installed during the trial period of meters, and that more than 7,000 offenders avoided prosecution last year by dropping coins in it. Referring to more stringent penalties which had been suggested, the mayor said the city does not wish to place severe penalties against persons who accidentally violate parking regulations, or upon first offenders.

Alderman Kelly said that the law should be revised with a view of dealing with habitual offenders. Alderman Costello said he doesn't believe police officers should be a judge of violations but that these should be handled by the police magistrate.

After further discussion the council reached tentative agreement on a scale of penalties ranging from first-timers to those who overstep the law more than three times within a month. On motion of Alderman Weaver, seconded by Alderman Kelly, the city attorney was instructed to revise the proposed amendment, and present it at the next meeting.

All councilmen voted yes on the motion.

Set Up Primary Election
An ordinance providing for a primary election on Feb. 22, appointing judges and clerks, and designating polling places was given first reading on motion of Alderman Kelly, seconded by Alderman Weaver. Hour of the primary are from 6 a. m. to 5 p. m. The ordinance will be up for passage next week.

City Clerk Phillips read a communication from H. A. Littler, area manager of the Illinois Power Company, expressing appreciation for the cooperation of the police, street and light departments of the city after the sleet storm which caused much damage to electric lines and trees.

"It is only through such cooperation that service can be restored during a crisis such as we have had this last week," the letter stated.

Animal Hospital Moved
Alderman Weaver of the health committee reported that a veterinary hospital has moved from a building on South East street, and that the property will be occupied by a feed store. He said the removal of the veterinary hospital removes the object of a complaint which was presented recently in a petition signed by about 40 persons of that area.

J. W. Theobald addressed the council concerning a sewer on Oak street which he laid at his own expense in 1929, and on which some repairs are planned. On motion of Alderman Flynn, seconded by Alderman Weaver, the sewer in question was officially designated as a private sewer.

The council gave second reading and passed an ordinance for the lease of property on South Main street near the town brook to Tom Cornish for a used car display lot.

Alderman Baker of the finance committee instructed department heads to prepare figures for the 1949 budget and turn them in as soon as possible for consideration.

Soldier In Jail On Check Charge; Set Bond $5,000

Paul T. Reynolds of this community appears to have trouble facing him both at Fort Riley, Kansas, where he has been serving in the armed forces, and in Morgan county where he is alleged to have forged several checks, most of which were for $5 and $50.

Reynolds was taken into the court of Justice C. S. Smith on Saturday afternoon by Patrolmen Wilson and Woods, to answer a charge of forgery sworn out by Stanley Swartz. Bond was fixed in the amount of $5,000, after which Reynolds was taken to the county jail.

The defendant is accused of putting over two checks for $50 each at the Klump Oil Company, a $35 check at Ashby's store and $30 and $35 checks at the Quinlan tavern.

He also admitted, according to State's Attorney Albert Hall and members of the police department, that he cashed two worthless checks at Hannibal, Mo.

Reynolds is said by local officials to be absent without leave from Fort Riley. The state's attorney's office will report the action of the justice court in holding the defendant under bond. Whether military authorities will take action in the case has not yet been determined.

Pressure Groups Rule At Expense Of People, GOP Clubwomen Hear

"The present administration, like its predecessor, is attempting to satisfy every pressure group at the expense of all the people," Attorney Carl E. Robinson asserted Monday afternoon when he addressed the Morgan County Women's Republican club when it met at the Dunlap hotel.

Mrs. Margaret Owings, the president, presided during the afternoon.

In the course of his address Mr. Robinson asserted that "Since the advent of the New Deal, a group of leaders, styling themselves as liberals, and all others as conservatives or reactionaries, have furthered the establishment of an all-powerful government, and have consistently sought to increase the authority of the government at the expense of individual liberty. Apparently their objective is to equalize possessions and incomes of all the people, and in order to achieve this objective they want a government of unlimited powers in the hands of 'good people.'"

As President Roosevelt said in his annual message to Congress Jan. 3, 1936, "We have built up new instruments of public power. In the hands of a People's Government that power is wholesome and proper."

"These self-styled liberals want to abandon the principle of equality under the law, so that certain social groups, whom they think need special protection, may have special privileges conferred by law. The principle they have adopted is, in fact, a reactionary principle, the reactionary principle of authority which has been at the base of every tyrannical government of which history has a record. It is in fact the opposite of liberalism."

"Liberalism has always been the struggle of man to assert his liberty against authority that would limit it. The liberalism about which we read in history regarded government as a necessary evil and looked upon all governments, including our own, with suspicion."

"The true liberal believed that the only way to safeguard liberty and protect the individual from the tyranny of government is to limit."

The next meeting will be a membership tea in March with Mrs. Clarke Stevenson the chairman. Members of the executive committee will constitute the committee in charge.

Fairgrounds Horse Barn Rehabilitated By Saddle Club

Rehabilitation of the once-neglected horse barn located on the Morgan county fairgrounds was reported Monday night at a meeting of the executive committee of the Jacksonville Saddle Club, Inc.

The board met at Gustine's furniture store on S. Main street. George Lukman, Jr., the president, presided.

Three members, Ralph Bourne, William Hudson, Jr., and Everett Mason, were delegated to nominate officers for the coming year. This slate will be reported and voted upon at the annual meeting to be held on Friday evening, Feb. 4.

A potluck dinner will be served, with the club furnishing the ham and dressing. Members will be notified as to the place of the annual meeting, which has not yet been determined.

The board applauded the accomplishments of the members in overhauling the barn. The stalls were replaced by 16 well built stalls, a tack room and a feed room. The roof has been painted red and one coat of white paint has already been applied. Another coat will be put on soon.

Work on the caretaker's quarters is also well along. Work on it will be continued as soon as the weather permits.

During the summer and fall the club members held a number of "work picnics" at the fairgrounds.

Illinois Forester To Demonstrate Portable Saw

Farmers of this area, especially those with a woodlot on their farms, are asked to attend a demonstration to be held Thursday afternoon at the H. P. Jop woodland improvement plot.

R. C. Rennels of the forestry division of the College of Agriculture will be on hand to discuss management practices. He will review the growth of trees in the plot and discuss marketing problems and methods.

The plot is located one-quarter of a mile north of the Mauvaisterre bridge on Route 104 between Jacksonville and Chapin.

Mr. Rennels will also demonstrate a portable power saw that takes much of the work out of farm lot harvesting.

The demonstration plot was laid out 10 years ago. Since then timber specialists have kept an accurate account of the growth of the individual trees.

About 3,500,000 acres of Illinois timberland, most of it in farm woodlots, is loafing on the job, according to the U. of I. foresters. It is growing less than half the timber it could grow with good management.

Appetizing Menu Will Be Prepared Tuesday; All Women Welcome

Women of the Jacksonville area are again invited to be present for the Journal Courier Food Festival School of Cooking, the first session of which will open at 9 a. m. today at the Fox Illinois theatre. The school will be in session for four days, beginning Tuesday and continuing through to Friday.

Since all indications point to capacity crowds, those planning to attend are urged to arrive at the theatre early in order to assure getting a seat. The doors will open at 8 a. m.

The host of cooking utensils which will be used during the school by Miss Edalene Stohr, nationally known home economist and her assistant, Miss Doris Keefe, have all been unpacked and both ladies are very busy preparing for the opening session.

During the next four days these two experts will do everything within their power to make each program one of real help to every homemaker attending—full of interest from start to finish.

Meal Planning Important
In presenting the school this newspaper recognizes that with present prices for food, the task of proper meal planning becomes increasingly important. Homemakers must, of necessity, be more careful buyers and better cooks.

In planning the school programs, the National Live Stock and Meat Board has included information which will be of special value in buying and cooking meat economically.

Helpful Hints For Cooks
Such information will be stressed at Tuesday's session in the preparation of such meat dishes as Spanish pork chops, Swiss steak, stewed sausage, patties and leg of lamb. Other dishes on today's schedule will include banana cake, pumpkin pie, apple strudel, French fried onions and oatmeal cookies.

During the preparation of these and other taste-tempting dishes, the Board's cooking school personnel will stress the planning of well-balanced meals, keeping always in mind the economy angle. They will demonstrate how it is possible to serve menus which are attractive, which afford satisfaction for the whole family and at the same time enable the thrifty homemaker to keep within her budget.
